Red Top Cab Will Convert 100 Vehicles to Clean Energy, Propane Fueled Hybrids

Red Top Cab, an early pioneer in the use of hybrid cabs in its fleet, plans to convert 100 cabs to propane AutoGas hybrids as a participant in the Clean Cities project.

Red Top will also host a propane fueling station, part of Clean Cities plan to create a Southeast Regional AutoGas Corridor with 1000 propane vehicles and 17 fueling stations. Clean Cities is a government-industry partnership working to reduce petroleum consumption in the transportation sector.

Propane produces 20% less carbon emissions than regular gas. It is created in the U.S. as a byproduct of natural gas extraction and refined fuel.

"We see propane-fueled taxicabs as an opportunity to reduce emissions while also decreasing our dependence on imported oil," said Red Top President Neal Nichols. "We introduced our first propane-powered hybrid into the fleet in March and we are very pleased with it."

Red Top Cab Sponsors Day at "Lose the Training Wheels" Camp in Arlington

Red Top Cab was proud to be a Day Sponsor for the Lose the Training Wheels organization's week-long camp held in Arlington August 17th - 21st. Lose the Training Wheels is a national nonprofit that teaches individuals with disabilities to become lifelong independent riders. Arlington County's Department of Parks and Recreation hosted the camp at the Barcroft Sports Center.

"It's a privilege to contribute to such a wonderful program, which develops skills that help people with disabilities gain greater assurance and self reliance in many other areas of their lives," said Von Pelot, Red Top's Director of Sales and Marketing.

Red Top Cab Transports "Wounded Warriors" & Seriously Ill Teen on Outings

Through partnerships with area organizations, Red Top Cab gives back to the community in the way it knows best: by providing gold service transportation. On September 10th, Red Top donated the use of two wheelchair accessible taxicabs and a bus to transport wounded troops and their guests from Walter Reed Army Medical Center to Morton's in Tysons Corner, where the soldiers enjoyed an evening of good food and NFL football. Red Top was honored to transport 45 wounded warriors to and from this event, which was organized by Paul Norman and USO Metro.

In July, the company provided a chauffeured Lincoln Town Car from Red Top Executive Sedan to transport Kevin, a 17-year-old boy who suffers from an autoimmune disease, and his family from their DC hotel to the Dandy Cruise Ships in Alexandria and back. Red Top donated the service at the request of the Kids Wish Network -- a nonprofit organization dedicated to granting the wishes of children between the ages of three and 18 who live with life threatening illnesses -- and was happy to help make Kevin's dream of a sightseeing cruise on the Potomac come true.
